

FORTY MEN ARE KILLED.

Terrible Battle Between Strikers and Deputies at the Coal Mines at Verdun, Illinois.

The Governor of Illinois Refused Protection to the Imported Negroes, and the Battle Was the Result.

Verdun, Ill., Oct. 12.—The negroes imported to take the places of the strikers in the coal mines, arrived here this afternoon and a battle occurred between the strikers and the sheriff's deputies. Twenty men were killed on each side and many wounded.

The people are greatly excited and terrible times are expected here tonight. The strikers swear that the imported negroes will never go to work.

PADUCAH THE PLACE.

The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Will Meet Here Next Year.

Mayor Lang received a telegram this afternoon from W. H. Patterson and G. W. Robertson who are at the Grand Lodge meeting of Odd Fellows at Winchester stating that the Grand Lodge will meet in Paducah next year. This will be a big event for this city.

A BIG FIRE.

Brownsville, in Lincoln County, Suffers a Very Heavy Loss.

The Business Portion of the Town Completely Wiped Out. Loss, $20,000.

Brownsville, Ky., Oct. 12.—The business portion of this town was wiped out by fire today. Seven stores, two office buildings, Senator Lay's handsome residence, and three cottages were destroyed. Loss $20,000, with insurance one-third. There is no clue to the cause of the fire.

FOWLER VS. JOLLY.

The Second District Republicans at Last Have a Candidate.

Frankfort, Oct. 12.—W. T. Fowler's name goes on the republican ticket for congress in the Second district. The opinion was delivered by Judge Burnham, of the court of appeals, yesterday afternoon, overruling the motion made by Geo. W. Jolly to reinstate the injunction by which he sought to prevent Fowler's name from being certified to as the nominee, Judge Dorsey, of Henderson, dissolved the injunction. Jolly will run as an independent and get on the ballot by p-tition.

SOLDIER IN HOSPITAL

He Was On His Way to Join His Regiment When Stricken.

Belongs to the Second Alabama Regiment—Admitted by the Mayor.

Wm. D. Forrest, a private in the Second Alabama, who was on his way from Cincinnati to Montgomery to join his regiment, was today stricken with what is thought to be malaria fever, and was admitted to the city hospital by order of the mayor, with the approval of the city physician.

The young man had been to Cincinnati, and was very ill when he city last night and unable to go through. His condition is not thought to be serious, but it is enough to keep him here for some little time.

LOWEST YET.

The Thermometer Falls Twelve Degrees in One Day.

It is the Lowest Point That Has Been Reached This Season.

The lowest degree of temperature reached this season was this morning when the thermometer registered fifty degrees, twelve degrees lower than the minimum yesterday, and twenty-nine lower than the maximum yesterday. The cold was felt to some extent, too, as many people had fires and overcoats were numerous. Front doors were closed and merchants began thinking of exchanging electric fans for stoves.

Fifty degrees is the lowest reached this fall. On the 8th of last month the thermometer was fifty-four degrees, the lowest reached during that cold snap.

Farmers from the county, where it was colder than in the city, report that there was certainly a light frost last night, and many of them saw it.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Gravel "Fall" Buried Two Men—One May Die—Mr. Stanz Potter Has His Left Leg Broken.

Henry Coleman Was Bruised and Internally Injured by Heavy Load of Earth Which Fell Upon Him.

An accident that may yet result fatally occurred about 9 o'clock this morning at the Noble pit out on the Blandville road a few miles from the city.

The workmen, who are under Mr. Stanz Potter, had constructed a "fall," which is made by cutting into a gravel bank in two or more places, and then undermining the whole to fall when prized away from the top. During the recent rain the fall, while incomplete, was made loose, and this morning when the men went to work, before letting go the fall, were ordered by Mr. Potter to load a wagon.

The wagon was taken to the bottom of the bank, and while Mr. Potter and Henry Coleman were there engaged in loading the wagon, the bank caved in and buried them both. Men hastily went to the rescue, and the victims were dug out. Coleman, who is a well known farmer and resides out in Arcadia on the Broadway road, was found to be badly injured in addition to having serious bruises all over his body. He was taken home and Dr. Thomas E. Moss, of the city, was summoned and dressed the injuries.

Mr. Potter was also taken home, and Dr. J. T. Reddick, of the city, and Dr. Alcock, of the county, were called to dress his injuries.

At last accounts both men were resting as easy as could be expected.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

How it Cost a Paducahan a Lot of Good Fish.

A good joke is told at the expense of Mr. L. P. Rasor, who was employed recently to pump out a gravel pit out near the old fair ground with one of the city's fire engines.

At the same time, several days ago Saturday found there were but two and one-half feet in the pit. He wanted to work all day Sunday, in order to get the fish out when the water became low enough for him to wade in and rake up the finny tribe. The mayor would not permit it, however, and Mr. Rasor spent Sunday with the blissful realization that he was not desecrating the day as he had intended. It was with a light heart that he returned to work Monday morning, thinking of the good fish he would carry home that night, but imagine his surprise and chagrin when he reached the pit, to find that the people of the neighborhood had availed themselves of his absence the day previous, and had seized every fish in the pond. All the large trout—and they say there were trout weighing five and ten pounds in the pit, were carried away, but all the skip jacks and other common fish were thrown on the bank to rot.

Mr. Rasor's disappointment was great, and the next time he has such a chance to catch fish he is going to catch them while he can.

LIVELY RUNAWAY.

Horse Belonging to Mr. Joe Woods Runs Away.

There was a lively runaway this morning about 10 o'clock on the levee. A horse belonging to Mr. Joe Woods, and attached to an express wagon, turned the wagon over while being driven to make too short a turn, and ran away. All but the shafts and front wheels was left at the bottom of the hill and the horse started at a 2:40 gait up the hill. He did not hit but one obstruction, a barrel, and the runaway was watched with a great deal of interest by people both on top and at the bottom of the hill.

The animal finally ran against the drain cover at the foot of Court street, and as the wheels went over, went over with them and was unable to get up.

He was captured and carried to the remains of the wagon, and did not seem to be much the worse for his experience.

GROUNDS TO BE SOLD.

The Fair Association Will Abandon Its Grounds for Its Indebtedness—President Instructed to Sell.

The Indebtedness Is About $7,000, Grounds Comprise 33 Acres of Good Land—Will Seek a Purchaser.

An important meeting of the directors of the Paducah Fair and Exposition Association was held late yesterday afternoon, at which it was decided by a vote of the directors, that the president be instructed to sell to the highest bidder the grounds of the said association, the proceeds or receipts to be appropriated to the payment of the indebtedness of the association.

For some time it has been known that the association was in hard lines, owing to the failure of the people to properly patronize the meetings in the past few years, and this is one reason the fair, which would now be in progress had it not been declared off, did not take place.

The grounds of the association comprise 33 acres of the best land or about eight blocks, and cost the association to equip them about $12,000.

The present indebtedness of the association is about $7,000 and the directors are willing to close out the grounds to the person or persons who will assume the indebtedness, which will then protect the directors.

It may be said in behalf of the directors and officers of the association that they have done the best they could, and it is no fault of theirs that the annual meets were failures from a financial standpoint.

It is more than probable that the new men will take charge of the grounds and that Paducah will hereafter have her fairs regularly and with credit to the city and county, as well as profit to all concerned.

FINISHED NEXT YEAR.

It is Thought the Chicago and Eastern Will Soon be Completed.

Will Run From Marion to Metropolis, Ill.—The Latest About It.

Dun's agency, through its local agent, Mr. A. M. Clarke, who has been taking a great deal of interest in the completion of the Chicago and Eastern railroad, which is to run from Marion, Ill., to Metropolis, has been informed by Chicago capitalists in response to inquiry that the road will probably be completed next year.

The reference maps of the agency show that it has been completed to Metropolis, but this is an error. The Chicago men, when Mr. Clark wrote them went to work and ascertained from the directors of the proposed railroad, that it had not been completed to Metropolis because of the stringency existing a year or two ago, but from indications would be completed next year. The Chicago men also assure Mr. Clarke that it is their opinion that the road will then be completed.

It is needless to detail the advantages this road will prove to Paducah, as well as to Chicago merchants, who do a big business here. It is hoped that the road will be completed to Metropolis next year, as intended at present. To run it to Paducah would then be a matter of only a short time.

Their Regular Meeting Will be at 7:30 O'clock Tonight.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 12.—The attention of Gen. Shafter, who has been here since Thursday, was directed to an article in a current magazine, in which the correspondent charged him with gross incompetency in the conduct of the Cuban campaign.

"Yes, Richard Harding Davis was another correspondent I had trouble with," said Gen. Shafter. "He tried to tell me where I ought to land the troops. Then he said his superior talents ought to entitle him to land first."

"I told him I knew nothing of his superior talents, and that a correspondent from Podunk would have just the same privileges as Davis."

"This made him mad, and he has been writing stuff against me ever since."

"LET US HAVE PEACE"
"Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war."
"To the victors belong the spoils."

To our customers belong the profits this week. We have met the enemy and we've got 'em.

WE HAVE SILENCED THE
FOES of high prices with the bargains we sold to the trade. Our figures, at all times the LOWEST, now knock all the rest in the shade. From our dress goods may yet be selected some choice things in hot weather stuff, on which we won't quote any prices, though others do that for a bluff. These goods you can have as you wish them; yourself make the prices to suit. And when you have spent a few dollars you get a fine picture to boot. We are selling the handsomest DRESS SKIRTS ever sold in this end of the state; for less than the goods can be bought at, all home made and right up to date. Our LADIES WEAR the finest, and look lovely on creatures less fair. Our styles, which are ever the rarest, "are charming," fair women declare. And the men folks never forget us, when wearing NICK SHIRTS and FINE SHOES. They know we keep the assortment from which they can easily choose.

Our SHOES are the best and cheapest on top of the earth—or below—and every last pair is as "solid" as the rocks in the Forts of Morro. You may fancy this quite out of reason, but a trial will prove it is true. Just to wind up for the season, FORTY CENTS buys a LOW-QUEARTER SHOE.

In GAITERS and BUTTONS and LACES we can fit every foot to a "T." "Cousin Georgie, how dainty your feet look!" "I wear Dorian's shoes—don't you see?"

Rich people are pleased with the beauty of our LINENS, LACE CURTAINS and RUGS, and other folks think it a duty to follow the taste of "big bugs."

Our trade is increasing and healthy—our prices creating a muzz; we hold fast the trade of the wealthy, and the poor we have always with us.

Our PICTURES—the GEMS of IMMORTALS—in every "sweet home" ought to be, when just for a few dollars' purchase, you're welcome to some of them free.

All will admit the above contains "more truth than poetry."

Everybody come to this winding-up sale of the season.

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

The consumption of snuff in Paducah and vicinity is something remarkable. A great many snuff men have been noticed here within the past few days, and when one comes, it can confidently be expected that others will not be long in following. They keep on each other's trail, as it were. One of these drummers estimates that the monthly consumption in the city, or in this vicinity, is about 100 cases, which means, with 72 packages to the case, 7,200 packages a month, or 240 a day. In the face of these figures, however, persons who use snuff would be difficult individuals to find.

There was a deaf and dumb boy in the city yesterday en route to the institute at Danville who will doubtless make a success in life, if making a bluff at it counts for anything. The little fellow appeared to be about 7 or 8 years old, and at the hotel where he was being kept during his stay in the city, spent his time riding up and down with the elevator boy, who regarded the unfortunate guest with a sympathetic indulgence that he, with his callous heart, would hardly have extended to any one else.

A reporter called to obtain the names of the children, and could find no one but the boy in the elevator, who would likely be able to impart the desired information. He wrote a few words on a slip of paper, asking for the names, and after critically scrutinizing the note, the boy reached for the pencil and wrote a reply. There was nothing to resemble English in it, but the boy, after finishing, sank back with an air of ineffable satisfaction, and waited for the reporter to read it. This, of course, could not be done, as the scrawl was unintelligible. The gentleman in charge, upon being told of the incident later, only laughed and replied, "Why, that boy can't write. He just wanted to make out like he could."

The death record for ten days in October was something remarkable. There was not a certificate of burial for Oak Grove during the first nine days of the month. The decrease in death rate this year, thus far, has been about 10 per cent.

The yellow fever scare has played havoc with the railroads in the south. It is said that the Illinois Central railroad is losing $15,000 a day because of the yellow fever in Mississippi, and all other roads in that state are suffering heavy losses. On the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley division of the Illinois Central, 500 miles in length, traffic is completely suspended by the quarantine regulations, neither freight nor passenger trains moving. All passenger trains except the double through vestibule service daily have been abandoned on the main line of the Illinois Central.

A great many of the residents of North Third street who thought they were through with sewerage, ditches when the main sewer was completed last spring, were surprised a day or two ago to find that the street for 500 yards was being dug up again.

An investigation develops the fact that the original intention was not to have any house connection with the main sewer on account of its depth, and for this reason it was deemed advisable to construct an auxiliary sewer 250 yards, running north and south on one side and the same number on the other side. The main sewer, for the house connections, These newly laid laterals will empty into the manholes instead of the main sewer, which is 20 feet or more deep, and far too deep to dig down to from every house.

Don't experiment, but get the old reliable Plantation Chill Cure.

Paternalism.
"But," said the neighbor who likes to argue over politics, "you surely don't want a paternal government."
"Well," replied Farmer Corroset, "not literally, of course. An' yit I dunno but it 'ud be a good thing if some folks could be tucked out to the ways, jes' the same as if they was small boys."—Washington Star.

METROPOLIS NOTES.

Several Marriages of Interest to the People of Paducah.

Alleged Wheat Thieves Acquitted in Court There—Conference Closes.

Metropolis, Ill., Oct. 12.—The Southern Illinois M. E. conference has just closed its session, and Rev. J. W. Jackson has been returned to this place and H. O. Sheridan has been sent to the Metropolis circuit.

Walter Cooper and Arthur Profit, who were arrested a few days ago in Paducah on complaint of Alex Henderson of this county, accused of stealing wheat from him, had their trial before Samuel L. Wells, justice of the peace. The case was dismissed, the evidence being insufficient to bind them over to await the action of the grand jury.

Work on the steamer Nettle is progressing slowly, and she will not be completed before next week. The job will be a good one when finished.

Harris, Bro. & Co. are pushing the work on their factory at the old Towle mill, and are looking every day for a battery of new boilers.

On the 6th S. M. Nance and Amelia Atwood, of Marshall county, Ky., were married by Rev. B. C. Swan.

On the 6th J. M. Brown and Azzer Clark, of Ballard county, crossed the river at midnight and were married at daybreak.

On the 6th Thomas J. Allensworth and Almira C. Hatherton, of Bardwell, Ky., passed through Paducah and were married at Metropolis by T. Liggett.

On the 10th Milan Sisk and Della Tolcott, of Paducah, came down on the Fowler and married.

At noon, the 10th, Lucidence Bayless and Lucinda Blades, John Perkins and Irene Garrett, all of Paducah, came down on the Cowling, forming a double wedding at the office of T. Liggett, returning on the same boat.

INTERESTING DOCKET

A Man Who Saw a Boy With His Daughter's Picture is Fined.

Other Cases of Interest Were Called Before Judge Sanders

If a man would take about seven good drinks and then sit down, go to sleep and dream, the result would somewhat illustrate the evidence that was presented in various cases in the police court this morning.

Henry McCawley, colored, who works for Mr. Chas. Riecke, was charged with pursuing John Hale, colored, better known as "Brownie," into the Delicatessen with murderous intents. He said the reason he did it was because Hale had a picture of his (McCawley's) daughter on the lapel of his coat. McCawley had forbidden the boy from visiting his daughter, and when he saw her likeness on the youth's coat he was very wrath, and started to resent it with bloodshed. Mr. Riecke was there, and made quite a speech in behalf of the defendant, an employee, and bears a good reputation. McCawley was fined $3 and costs, and "Brownie" still has the picture.

Obediah Bradshaw, colored, was charged with drawing a pistol on Rene Fortson, one of his "best friends," who did not like the proceeding a bit. He claimed he did not do it, and there was copious evidence on both sides. It would be a job for a sphinx to unravel it all. The case was left open.

Lillie Nemo, for entering a saloon, was fined $5 and costs upon confession.

The case against Will Scott, the alleged Birmingham murderer, was continued until Friday. He is charged with vagrancy, while the officers await advice from Alabama.

Wesley Beaumont, a blackman, was fined $5 and costs for a breach of ordinance.

Gabe Fletcher, colored, for a breach of the peace, was fined $3 and costs.

DO PEOPLE READ POETRY?

A Recent Investigation of the Subject—Some Other Observations.

An eastern periodical has been trying to answer the question: "Do people read poetry?" and to that end has interviewed publishers and various literary persons supposed to have information on the subject. The conclusion drawn from the data so laboriously gained is to the effect that they do read it. Of course they do, but it was hardly necessary to take such pains to find out. A little reflection and observation would have answered as well. A magazine or newspaper editor must be aware, if he will stop to think, that if only those people read poetry who write it, a large proportion of the population may be classed as readers. Perhaps the readers of other people's poetry are hardly so numerous, but there is no doubt that poetry is widely read and is favorably regarded by persons who make no literary pretensions. Ask the very domestic woman, or the woman in a remote farmhouse if she keeps a scrapbook, acknowledge having thus preserved a few "pieces of poetry"—taken, the most of them, from the one weekly paper that comes to her home. The club women read poetry, of course; she has to if she would stand well, but it is not so certain that she engages in the perusal for personal enjoyment. It is sometimes because she has known about "tone color" and who the "poet prophets" are, and what Browning meant, and what Whitman was driving at, and all the rest of the poet lore—but she reads it, and the club woman, as we all know, makes up a good part of the community. What she reads and professes to like is, of course, only that class of verse admitted by magazine editors to be poetry, and it is not exclusively this that is meant when it asserts that all men and women read more or less poetry.

The verses that the woman on her farm has in her scrapbook, that even the club woman has tucked away in her desk, or pocketbook along with samples of silk, or that the man of business carries in his vest pocket until the bit of paper is worn out, would not always pass muster with the critics. Their meter may sometimes be faulty, but they may be more platitudes, but they somehow express the sentiment that appeals to the heart; they touch the emotions, not the intellect alone; they speak of common experiences—of love, and longing, and loss, of home of mother, of child, sometimes of religious faith, but always a tender sentiment. The man and woman who cherish these verses would resent being called sentimental, but one so seldom is moved by genuine sentiment, even crudely expressed, is rare. Comparatively few read volumes of verse—poetry, the best of it, is a luxury that even the poet are apt to take in small quantities—and the poet has learned instinctively to pass by most magazine verse as having nothing in it. That it is perfect in form and classic in thought means nothing if soul is not there, and it is mechanism rather than soul that is usually discernible. It is the poetry found in corners of newspapers that is read and out and learned by heart, the verses, perhaps contributed by amateurs, perhaps taken from the masters, but chosen because they speak the thoughts and aspirations, the hopes, and loves, and griefs common to humanity. Not all of it is what the critics know as poetry.

WHY THE SUN
Is the Favorite With the People. Have You Any Idea? Well It Is Because

This paper is for the upbuilding of this community.

It is for the elevation of all the people.

It told your friends when you were married.

It told how you completed the common schools, and of your graduating oration on the evening of the commencement.

It told of your baseball contests, and gave you a puff when you deserved it.

It has always wished you well in all your undertakings.

It gave you a nice notice concerning your wedding.

When you were seriously ill it told your friends and neighbors of it, far and near.

When you were on a committee for any public move for good, it has printed your name; and when the affair was over it gave you due credit for its success.

In numerous ways it has helped you to get your name before the people.

It has published the announcements of your Sunday school and church.

It has told the people much which you would like to have known, but which modesty or necessity prevented you from telling.

If you have been successful the paper has said so, if unfortunate, it has asked for sympathy. And thus it has rejoiced when you rejoiced and wept when you wept. If you are a good and enterprising citizen the paper will always be your friend.

It tells you where to buy and where to sell. It tells you of rogues to be avoided. If you are going to travel it tells you when the train leaves. It tells of current prices and prevents you from being cheated.

Finally, when you die, it will publish your obituary and will cover over your faults and recite the story of your good deeds.

All these things the local editor will say of you when no one else in the world can. The paper does it all free of cost to you, if you wish to receive it that way. However, for your sake, we hope you are too generous to accept so many unrequited favors, and that you are willing to reciprocate them.

Subscribe for the SUN. Be its friend and it will prove a friend to you. Send us the news occasionally. If you have anything to sell let us assist you in finding customers. And in the end, though your life may not have been sublime, in departing you will leave foot-prints upon the sands of time, and upon which the SUN will not fail to shine.

One reason why the SUN is congratulated on every hand for its wonderful progress is, because it has started for the top.

He is one of the men who have been in jail for the past several months with nothing to show what they were charged with. John Henry Carman, an alleged accomplice, was allowed to plead guilty a few days ago and was sentenced to three months in jail. The charge against the two men was robbery.

Druggists will say they sell more Plantation Chill Cure than all others.

The Royal is the highest grade baking powder known. Actual tests show it goes one-third further than any other brand.

Yesterday was truly a gala day in our sister city Cairo, Ill. It is estimated that there were some fifteen or eighteen thousand strangers who attended the street fair which opened yesterday. The visitors in attendance were principally from Kentucky, Missouri and Southern Illinois. The most attractive feature of the fair was the exciting steamboat race which was hotly contested between the Dick Fowler and Georgia Lee, in which the Fowler came out first by a length. The Fowler captured the $1,000 prize which will be greatly enjoyed by her owners.

The Joe Fowler arrived from Evansville at 9 o'clock this morning with a good business and departed at 11 a. m. on her return trip with a big list of passengers and fair freight business.

The towboat Kenton, Capt. Billy Edwards master, leaves tomorrow for Trade Water coal mines and will bring out some 25,000 bushels of coal for this city.

The company's launch dance yesterday at Cairo attracted thousands of men. The "old ball heads" were conspicuously prominent.

The Dick Fowler left this morning for Cairo promptly at 8 o'clock with nearly as large a crowd as she carried yesterday.

The City of Sheffield leaves St. Louis today at 5 p. m. for Sheffield, Ala., and all way points on Tennessee river, due early next Friday morning.

The City of Paducah will report out of Tennessee river tomorrow for St. Louis.

The P. D. Staggs arrived at noon today from Tennessee river with a splendid trip. She returns tomorrow at 5 p. m.

The Bob Dudley arrived from Clarksville at 11:30 this morning with fair business. The Dunbar left here in her place this afternoon for Nashville as the Cumberland now has plenty of water for the largest boats of the Ryman line. The Dunbar got a good trip from here for Nashville and way landings.

The weather turned suddenly cold last night and was in close proximity to Jack frost. The early part of today was not uncomfortable with a good warm fire.

The shipping and re-shipping business on arriving and departing steamers was very good all forenoon.

The present rise if kept up a day or two will prompt the White Collar line owners to start out some of their boats for Memphis and New Orleans by the last of this week.

Capt. John Evelyn, who is now a member of the Old People's home on South Grand avenue, was a visitor on the levee yesterday reviewing old acquaintances. Captain Evelyn first entered the steamboat business on July 3, 1848, and he remained in the service until some 18 months ago when ill health forced him to seek his present refuge. Capt. Evelyn is one of the oldest living veterans of the palmy days of the Mississippi river boat trade.—St. Louis Republic.

GET FLESH.

Get Strength, Vigor, Clear Complexion and Good Digestion, Not by Patent Medicine, but in Nature's Own Way.

Any honest physician will tell you that there is but one way to get increased flesh; all the patent medicines and cod liver oils to contrary notwithstanding.

Nature has but one way to increase flesh, strength and vigor, mind and body, and that is through the stomach by wholesome food, well digested. There is no reason or common sense in other method whatever.

People are thin, run down, nervous, pale and shaky in their nerves simply because their stomachs are weak.

They may not think they have dyspepsia, but the fact remains that they do not eat enough food, or what they eat is not quickly and properly digested, as it should be.

Dr. Harlandson says the reason is because the stomach lacks certain digestive acids and pepsines, and deficient secretion of gastric juice.

Nature's remedy in each case is to supply what the weak stomach lacks. There are several good preparations which will do this, but none so readily as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which are designed especially for all stomach troubles, and which cure all digestive weakness on the common sense plan of furnishing the digestive principles which the stomach lacks.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give perfect digestion. First effect is to increase the appetite and increased vigor, added flesh, pure blood and strength of nerve and muscle is the perfectly natural result.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest tonic known and will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach. May be found at druggists at 50 cents for full sized package or direct from Stuart & Co., Marshall, Mich.

THE GOOD FELLOW.

Sooner or Later Comes to Grief, But Others Come First.

Everybody said Tom Alley was a good fellow; another way of saying that Tom was a bad lot generally.

To be sure, he was nobody's enemy but his own; it would have been better for his friends had he been their enemy also. It would have been less expensive for them.

But he was really a kind-hearted fellow. He was always ready and willing to do a favor; so ready, in fact, that the person he ran his legs off for, as the saying is, was quite insensible of Tom's kindness.

Tom was as free with his services as he was with his money, or anybody else's money. The cry of distress was never uttered in Tom's presence in vain. If he had no money of his own he made himself almoner of anybody's money who happened to be nearest at hand.

He had a way of saying he knew of a poor woman who was actually suffering for food or fire, as the case might be; that he hadn't the heart to see her suffer, and he would end by borrowing a dollar of you.

It was your dollar that helped to alleviate the poor woman's distress, but Tom received the blessings of the poor woman.

However, it was right that he should. It probably never would have occurred to you to give the dollar; it is not at all likely that, but for him, you ever would have heard of the woman or she of you. Then it was not your dollar that she received, to speak with accuracy. It was Tom's dollar. What was loaned to Tom was equivalent to a gift. When Tom gave the dollar to the woman, therefore, was he not giving what was his?

Though Tom was a borrower, he was equally free to lend and he often borrowed from A to lend to B. Unfortunately for the satisfying of his generous instincts, he never had any money of his own to lend.

You may think it strange that Tom had any friends, his acquaintance being so expensive; but it is a fact that Tom was much sought after, by tradesmen especially.

This was because he was a good fellow. Had he not been quite so good a fellow, they would not have been obliged to seek him so often.

Few men were so much thought of. The butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker were thinking of him a good deal of their time; so were the friends who had loaned him money from time to time.

These might at times think uncharitably of Tom; but he never entertained an unkind feeling toward any of them. On the contrary, he was always ready to sink deeper into their debt.

But this was long ago. Tom is out of fashion now. When he became moody and ceased to be a good fellow first one and then another happened to be out of money or decided to furnish him with comestibles or what not on tick, and then, as we are so prone to imitating another's example, Tom's acquaintances generally first fled at his approach, and finally had the temerity to refuse him boldly and face to face.

But they still speak of Tom as a good fellow; but he cannot bank on that reputation any longer. His health is gone, in consequence of drinking so many other persons' healths; and as he is out of work, he can no longer work his friends.

The good fellow is certain to come to grief, sooner or later; but his friends and his shopkeepers come to it first.—Boston Transcript.
